

Annual Winter Meeting
December 9-10, 2011
Adirondack League Club, Old Forge, NY

The Adirondack Landowners Association is pleased to announce their Annual Winter Meeting, which will be held at the beautiful Adirondack League Club in Old Forge, New York. This meeting is always fun and informative, with lots of activities, good food and drink and a chance to see old friends...and maybe make some new ones! The ALA will also have its Annual Auction on Friday night....the auction has become a featured part of the winter meeting and always provides lots of entertainment and excitement.

Members are encouraged to come early and enjoy some outdoor fun on Friday. There will be a picnic at one of the ALC Camps, tours of ALC facilities, sporting clays, hiking and more. There are other activities being planned for Friday and will be announced shortly...please check back for updates. For those who really want to start early, there will be lodging available for Thursday evening.

On Saturday morning we will have our annual winter members meeting and discussion. There will most likely be several key political or government officials there to contribute to the presentation. This meeting is a great opportunity for all ALA members to participate and share their thoughts and ideas. Your voice is important, so please encourage your fellow club or family members to attend this special event.

More details on the meeting will be available shortly and will be posted on the website. If you have any questions or need additional information please contact Ingrid.
